As Though You Didn't Know...

By Clinton Caldwell

Down to the Niles p. o. bright and early, passing some of the more industrious shopkeepers out on the sidewalk with a broom erasing any leftover traces of the town's night life. . . . Then into Frick's for a listen to a very old John McCormack recording of Mother Machree played on a very new combination set. . . . Down to Crane's garage for a look at the sedan which was struck by a tank truck up in Niles Canyon, and, after observing the way a good many of the big, heavy-loaded trucks careen along the roads hereabouts, not at all surprised at the amount of damage that can be inflicted on a light passenger car. . . . Over to Centerville for a look at the new theater building and a few words with Postmaster Lewis who can tell you a thing or two about acoustics. . . . Into the telephone office to make a call and meeting the new switchboard girl, Ethel De la Torre. They still can use one more operator, though. Like a job? . . . Around to see Al Martin who will reopen Klein's on the 22nd, and to meet Mrs. Martin who also knows something about how a restaurant should be run. . . . Quick stop at Walton Drug for a chat with Bernardine Francis who is just back from a week at Santa Cruz. . . . Down to Irvington to come in on the tail end of a chase wherein a motor cop nabbed a Fordful of boys for speeding. . . . Then out to the Occidental Stove factory where things are beginning to stir but where it may be three months or better before the doors are opened for business. . . . Back-track to Centerville for a few words with Fire Chief Rogers just as a call came for an engine out at the Bettencourt place, and trailing along to learn that a spark left over from a grass fire had ignited a chicken house which burned down, destroying about twenty choice pullets, but any further (Continued on page 6)

FLYING FIELD WIDENS AIRSTRIP

Don Hubbard, manager of the Centerville airport, reported this week that slow but steady progress is being made toward converting the local field into one of the best in the state. Workmen have just completed the job of widening the runways to 700 feet, and the construction of eight new hangars already is underway. "We have sixteen new aircoops ordered," Hubbard said. "We are going after modern improvements as fast as they are available to us." The airport, which is used by many local flying enthusiasts, is generally conceded to have an excellent location.

DECOTO PRESENTS INCORPORATION PETITION TO COUNTY

The petition for the incorporation of Decoto as a municipality was presented to the board of supervisors in Oakland yesterday by Attorney Frank Nunes of Hayward, who is representing the Progressive Club of Decoto and other proponents of incorporation. Signed by 147 voters, the petition will be checked by the supervisors for validity and in about 30 days, according to Nunes, a report will be issued, on the basis of which an election will be allowed or denied. According to Nunes, if the board allows the petition, election for the incorporation of Decoto will be held in three to four months. If the supervisors find that the legally required number of signatures are affixed to the petition, a public hearing will be held on the matter of corporate boundaries. Following this hearing, publication of notice of election will be required, accounting for further delay in holding the election. The incorporation of Decoto has been opposed by the Decoto Chamber of Commerce.

TWO-WAY RADIOS MAY BE INSTALLED IN FIRE STATIONS

Not all township fire chiefs were present at the meeting held in Ashland last Friday when advisability of equipping local fire departments with two-way radios was discussed, but all of those chiefs contacted this week were of one accord regarding the idea: "It's an excellent plan." "Why shouldn't we have them?" said Fire Chief Clarence Crane of the Niles department. "The cost is small and the advantages are many." The cost of installing the equipment, with each town paying for its own unit, would run slightly less than $400 per unit, it was pointed out. "Naturally, proper use of radio equipment would call for at least one regular fireman to be on the job 24 hours per day," Chief Vargas of Alvarado said. The boardcastings station and the frequency wave length of the Alameda County Sheriff's office would provide the medium through which messages sent in for fire fighting equipment would be transmitted. "Such equipment as two-way radios would save time and money," was the assertion of Chief Pashote of the Newark fire department. "Only the other day one of our trucks was out on a call when it was necessary to have a second truck. With the use of two-way radio we could have had that second truck on its way in just as short a time as it would take to ask for it." "Many times telephone wires cannot be cleared as quickly as they should be in such an emergency as a fire," Lester Olivera, president of the Alameda County Firemen's Association, said at the meeting in Ashland. "There is no question about the merits of two-way radio," said Chief Roland Bendel of Decoto. "It should be standard equipment." "We plan to discuss two-way radio installation at our meeting this week," reported Bill Corey, fire chief of Irvington. "All I can say now is that we favor the idea." "We think two-way radios for fire departments are a coming thing," said Fire Chief Rogers of Centerville. "That's the opinion of most of the men acquainted with our problem of distance here in the township. Any further action on it will receive our full cooperation."

NILES MAN MEETS DEATH IN EAST

It was a shock to his friends and relatives in Niles to learn of the accidental death on July 10 in Easley, South Carolina, of Rex Henderson, 38, of 916 Second St., Niles. Though complete details are not available at this time, it is known that Mr. Henderson was struck by a freight train and was instantly killed, his body being badly mangled. Mr. Henderson, whose wife is in Niles inasmuch as she was unable to get East in time for the funeral, had been in South Carolina since April. He had worked at the local steel mill and was with the Army in Panama until August of 1943. He later returned to Niles and took a position with the Kaiser shipyards in Richmond, where he remained until he went East. Other survivors include a sister, Miss Mary Margaret Henderson of Easley, and also three brothers: Herman, Charleston, and Ray, all of Easley. The deceased was born in South Carolina.

RECEIVE DISCHARGES

Discharged veterans from local board No. 75 this week include: Feliciano Galvan, arm Springs; Stanford Williams, Irvington; Edward Brazil, Centerville; Henry Serpa, Newark; and Frank Machado, Centerville.

THANK YOU

Centerville, Calif., July 16, 1946. Township Register, Niles, Calif. Dear Township Boosters: Thanks for the fine article on the slogan contest. There has been a very fine response from business men and others. We will not know the result of the contest for a few days but we shall let you know (and we hope many others) what the winning slogan is. Sincerely, E. B. HODGES.

ALVARADOAN IS AMNESIA VICTIM

From Mrs. Ruth Figueroa of Alvarado this week came the tragic news that her son, Albert Escandon, had been the victim of an accident occurring in La Havre, France, which resulted in the loss of his memory. A member of the U. S. Army stationed in that country, Escandon was on guard duty when some person or persons wanting access to the building which Escandon was guarding, slugged him on the back of the head. For hours Escandon lay unconscious. When found and treated, although his life was saved, it was found that the blow had resulted in amnesia for Escandon. As far as Mrs. Figueroa has been able to ascertain, Escandon will be returned to this country before long. Whether or not the amnesia condition will be permanent is not known.

SILVA RITES HELD TODAY

Residents of the township this week mourned the passing of another highly-esteemed early settler, Antonio F. Silva, 77, a native of Halfmoon Bay, Calif. Funeral services are being held at 8:30 this morning (Friday) at Berge Mortuary Company, Niles. Following the services, the many friends and relatives of the deceased will proceed to Corpus Christi Church, Niles, where mass will be said. Interment will be at Holy Ghost Cemetery, Centerville. Mr. Silva in passing leaves the following relatives: Donald Silva, first lieutenant, Marine Corps in China; Judge Joseph A. Silva and Mrs. Frances Nagli of Niles; Mrs. Tom Joseph of Sutter City; Mrs. A. G. Elastron of Sacramento; Frank A. Silva of Irvington; Mrs. Anna Hayes of San Francisco; Victoria Sexton of Los Angeles; and the late Manuel Silva.

ART CRITIC 'DISCOVERS' WESLEY HOTEL

LOT MORE TO IT THAN MEETS THE EYE

By KENNETH HENRY

Have you ever looked at the Wesley Hotel—REALLY looked at it? After reading the amusing—and, in several instances, amazing—account of our own Wesley Hotel in Niles, you will undoubtedly wonder if you have ever seen the place. The associate editor of The Register will confess that she has gone by the Wesley dozens of times and has failed to notice ANY of these interesting features which Kenneth Henry, bon vivant and writer par excellence, brings to our attention in his column below. (Mr. Henry, you will remember, wrote recently of the discovery of interesting antiques in Niles.) It all goes to prove that the things that are closest to us are those to which we pay the least attention. P. S.—We're on our way now to go sight-seeing—on the Wesley.

Sometime when you're down town with nothing better to do, take notice of the modeled plaster embellishments which ornament the entrances to our Wesley Hotel.

This particular type of modeled plaster art is going the way of other non-essentials in the interests of simplicity and economy in construction, so I thought it would be interesting to watch its passing and see an example of it in Niles. Many of us will remember the vaulted ceiling and arched columns covered with this tracery which decorated the old Hoff Brau House Restaurant, downstairs, at Fifth and Market in San Francisco—with its apple trees in fruit and flower and the faces of urchins peeking through the foliage at the fashionable parties frequenting the place.

GOOD EXAMPLES The Wesley foliations are good examples of exterior ornament, which usually lack the fineness of detail seen in interior pieces (because of weathering). At the hotel entrance are the modified

IRVINGTON MAN DROWNING VICTIM IN STOCKTON

Funeral services will be held from the Berge Mortuary in Irvington this afternoon (Friday) at 1 p.m. for Selwyn O. Robinson, who was a drowning victim in a stream near Stockton, last Monday. Mr. Robinson, the son of Mrs. Lillie Robinson of Irvington, was a long-time resident of Irvington and a member of the Washington Township Post, American Legion. The son of the late Orin Norman Robinson, he is survived by his mother; a daughter, Mrs. Joe Matthews of Seaside; and a son, Richard Allan Robinson of Turlock. He was also the brother of Mrs. Richard A. Cummings of Berryessa, Lauren C. Robinson of Hayward, Mrs. Edson L. Dunn of San Jose and Mrs. Tony Pedros of Oakland. He was a native of Scott's Valley, Lake County. Since his discharge from the service, the deceased had been employed in Stockton. Closing services will be held at the Golden Gate National Cemetery in San Bruno.

NEWARK BOY IN SKATING ACCIDENT

Mervin Nevis, sixteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nevis of Newark, was the victim of a painful skating injury sustained Friday night at the Garden of Allah rink. According to witnesses the Nevis boy, in attempting to avoid a collision with two women skaters, lost his balance and fell, plunging his hand through a pane of window glass. The Nevis boy was taken to the office of Dr. E. C. Grau in Niles where it was necessary to take 26 stitches in his left hand.

TEAMS TWO THIRDS THROUGH SEASON

Five of the six games scheduled for this week were played by teams of the township softball association, with one game called off and two claimed by forfeit. Central Chevrolet and Westvaco both claimed wins over Krafite for forfeit, while the called-off game was between Frick's and the Woodmen. In other games played, Wedgewood defeated Westvaco 3 to 1; Native Sons beat Woodmen 3 to 2; and Klein's beat Mission Firemen 3 to 0.

State Legislators Assure Help to Proponents Of Local Hospital District

Legal limitation which now prevents the formation of a hospital district in Washington Township is without sound basis, according to Assemblyman Francis Dunn and Senator Arthur Breed, who met with the Washington Township Planning Committee at the high school Tuesday evening. And the two legislators pledged themselves to sponsor an amendment to the present law authorizing hospital districts so that it will enable formation of a district here.

Tuesday's meeting, which was to have been held earlier in the year, had been postponed by Chairman L. R. Batman and Secretary Edward E. Enos until the two state legislative representatives could meet with the body. In addition to the matter of forming a hospital district, Breed and Dunn were advised of action under way by the Newark Chamber of Commerce, supported by the planning committee and various town organizations, to make Dumbarton Bridge toll-free.

NO REASON NOW

The two legislators recounted to the planning committee that when the present hospital district law was introduced into the California Senate there were no limitations as to where a district could be formed. In the Assembly, the bill was amended by a limitation to counties of less than 200,000 population. No reason for such an amendment is now apparent, according to both men.

Senator Breed told the committee that he believed it would not be difficult to put through an amendment in both houses of the state legislature changing the wording of the law so that large metropolitan areas would still be prevented from forming districts, while Washington Township and similar areas removed by several miles from such cities, could form hospital districts. Assemblyman Dunn concurred in this opinion.

THEY AGREE

Both Dunn and Breed thereupon agreed that they would give their full efforts toward helping the township by sponsoring an amendment in the next regular legislative session in January. If the amendment is passed, the amended law will be effective in September, 1947.

Breed and Dunn suggested to the committee that it would aid their efforts in the legislature if the support of the county board of supervisors and various groups such as the Farm Bureau could be secured. According to planning committee officers, the soliciting of wide support will be discussed at the next meeting of the committee, which will be held this fall.

President Richard Jolly of the Newark Chamber of Commerce, also a representative on the planning committee for Newark, told the two state legislators of efforts to persuade the state toll bridge authority to buy Dumbarton Bridge, make it a part of the state highway system, and remove the toll.

VERY DIFFICULT

Assemblyman Dunn pointed out that it would be extremely difficult to secure state ownership, toll-free, of the bridge inasmuch as there would be conflict with other bridge districts in the bay area.

For example, the assemblyman said, if Dumbarton were to be bought by the state, the company which owns the San Mateo Bridge also would want the state to buy it out. Furthermore, the Golden Gate bridge district is trying to persuade the state to buy its bridge—for $35,000,000.

In view of these considerations, he said—and Breed concurred—it looks like quite a difficult proposition.

The meeting was well attended, most township civic organizations being represented, as well as a number of local doctors.

SERVICES HELD FOR JOSEPH P. MELLO

Simple but impressive services were held on July 16 at Holy Ghost Church for Joseph P. Mello, 80, who died this week. He had been a resident of Washington Township for 32 years. Following the services, interment was made at Holy Sepulchre Cemetery under the direction of the Chapel of the Palms. Mello, a native of the Azores, was the father of Manuel, Frank, Joseph and Kenneth Mello, and Mrs. Rita Perry.

VISITING IN OREGON

NEWARK DOES NOT LIKE REBER PLAN

In line with its belief that the so-called Reber plan is a fantastic idea at best, a motion was made and carried by the Newark Chamber of Commerce at its meeting Tuesday evening, July 16, to draft a resolution to lay before a joint Army-Navy board, opposing the plan. "No good can possibly come to Newark of the whole of Washington Township if such a proposal were to be given serious consideration," was the unanimous consensus of the organization.

As a second topic, the crying need for an improved telephone service in Newark was discussed. It was pointed out, however, that a number of hard-to-deal-with factors, including labor and material shortages, figured in the situation.

Finally, there was some talk about a proposal to secure better street lighting facilities for Newark, but nothing definite was reached on that.

In the absence of President Jolly, who was in attendance at the meeting held in Centerville of the Washington Township Planning Committee, the gavel was handled by Vice-President Art Cotton.

ESCANDON RITES HELD THIS WEEK

Following mass said for him at St. Anne's Church, the body of Frank M. Escandon, 35, of Alvarado, who died in Oakland this week, was laid to rest in Holy Ghost Cemetery.

Frank Escandon, beloved son of the late Mariano and Dominga Escandon, had been a veteran to the Army Medical Corps, in World War II.

The illness which finally terminated in his death had been of quite lengthy duration.

He is survived by three sisters, Ruth Figueroa, Rosie Lozano and Javita Aguilar; and two brothers, Manuel and Albert Escandon.

QUEEN AND MOTHER RETURN FROM L. A.

"HAD WONDERFUL TIME!" THEY REPORT

Miss Ellen Hall, queen of the recent Apricot Festival held in Irvington, and her mother, Mrs. Weldon Hall, this week returned from three glorious days spent in Los Angeles and Hollywood as guests of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

Flying by United Airline through the sponsorship of the Irvington Promenaders and Bill Helm of the Niles Theatre, Miss Hall and her mother spent their first day just strolling around town and seeing such sights as the Hollywood Bowl, Grauman's Chinese Theater and the beach resorts.

On the morning of the second day they really got down to the business at hand, beginning with breakfast in the Bamboo Room of the world famed Brown Derby, then over to Paramount Studio for a look at Bing Crosby and Joan Fontaine in the midst of shooting the Emperor's Waltz, and for lunch at the studio commissary.

That evening in the company of Mr. Ralph Dyer, representative of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, the Irvington miss and her mother attended a number of the big coast-to-coast broadcasts at N.B.C. and C.B.S.

On the third day the happy cycle was resumed with lunch at the original Brown Derby on Wilshire Boulevard in Los Angeles and another round of interesting southland places of fun and interest.

When asked whether or not the trip had been equal to their expectations, both Miss Hall and her mother were in complete agreement that it had—and then some!

"Both of us were thrilled," the two ladies said. "We only wish that everyone responsible for the trip could have been along with us to share in the fun."

ROBERTSON FAMILY RETURNS

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Robertson and their four children returned to Irvington this week from a trip to Oklahoma.

AT THE RACES

Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Carr, accompanied by their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Wesley Carr and son, Billy, were among those who attended the horse races in Pleasanton last Friday.

Thinking Things Over ...

By VIVIAN BATMAN

It is always disheartening to get a letter like the one below. In the first place, no malice was meant. It is one of those peculiar circumstances where offense was taken when no offense was intended.

Our new reporter, Mr. Caldwell, has been doing a swell job regardless of the fact that he is unacquainted here and consequently finding it tougher to get news than if he had lived here for some time. His first week here, he went into the Irvington library and found it a most interesting place. It had what is popularly known as "atmosphere," and he was inspired to write a story in his column about it.

Unfortunately, he got the librarian's name confused, which caused him no end of embarrassment. Unfortunately, too, Miss Lowrie took exception to a few of his statements. He had no intentions of making derogatory remarks about the library. (For the life of me though, I can't find anything in his story that might be construed as being derogatory). I also know positively that there was no "deliberate slam" at the library as Miss Lowrie suggests.

But here's the letter, which we are printing so that Miss Lowrie can clear up publicly anything that was said—unintentionally—about the library:

Irvington, California
July 13, 1946
Editor, Township Register,
Niles, California.

My Dear Mr. Batman:
Last week I wrote you asking that certain corrections be made concerning the Irvington Library. I note that the only correction in today's paper is one I did not ask for. Everyone knows that I have charge of the Irvington Library and that correction was not at all necessary.

Several persons have spoken to me about the very incorrect statements made in your paper concerning the library. They resent, as I do, the implication that Irvington has only a third or fourth class library which receives books but twice a year. Knowing that we have very good books and that there are many readers of non-fiction as well as other types of fiction besides western stories, they feel that this article was a deliberate slam at their library.

I had supposed that you would be willing to correct any misstatement in your paper, it would seem that you are more interested in saving your face.

In the future any news I have to give will certainly be given to the Washington News. I note that they are willing to acknowledge their mistakes when they make them, which isn't very often.

Yours very truly,
Elizabeth Lowrie.

Let me say, Miss Lowrie, that not only Mr. Caldwell is apologetic for the apparent confusion, but Mr. Batman also joins him and me in expressing our regret over the whole episode. If there is anything more you want in the way of an explanation, we will be more than happy to oblige you. We are not, as you say, merely interested in "saving face."

But let me ask you one question, Miss Lowrie. Is there anything wrong with reading Western stories? I myself find them refreshing and stimulating reading when heavier reading palls. Do you mean to imply that to suggest that you have readers of Western stories in your library is a "deliberate slam" at the library and its patrons? In my opinion, some of our finest writers have written Westerns. I am going to say right out that I like Westerns. Perhaps that's because I was born in the West, and I like the feel of the West. And I have a soft spot in my heart for any writer who interprets that feeling, in words.

As for not giving us any news in the future, Miss Lowrie, I am sorry about that. I have seen your unusual button collection, and I had hoped some day to write a feature story on it. Perhaps you will come to realize that we sincerely meant no intentional slight either to you or to the library, and will no longer bear a grudge?

HARD TO GET

The peninsula — especially around Palo Alto — is becoming a mecca for gourmets. More and more road houses and restaurants are opening up—and each one, at dinner time, is surrounded by a flotilla of cars. People who used to raise an eyebrow over a dollar dinner, now pay $2.50 and $3.00 without batting an eyelash. One of the most popular spots is Long Barn—really something different in the way of dining places. They have, inside in a lighted aviary, some of the prettiest love birds you've ever seen. We were told on a Saturday night at Dinah's, which is in its second decade of popularity, that we would have to wait an hour to be seated. Did we wait? We did not! We went on to a new place, called Frank's Italian Gardens, which had, as its two chief attractions, an outdoor dining patio, and a svelte girl who played the accordion and sang, wandering from table to table. ### Peace Conference

The long-awaited peace conference is now scheduled for July 29 in Paris. But the long-awaited peace in Europe is still nowhere in sight.

The conference may set forth peace terms for the former Axis satellites, but these terms will have little meaning unless Moscow changes its conduct in Eastern Europe to a very marked degree.

As it is, the Russians have acted very much as they pleased in the areas under their control, with little regard for their pledges. There is scant reason to believe that the drafting of formal treaties with Italy, Finland, Hungary, Roumania and Bulgaria will cause the Kremlin to alter its ways in the latter three countries where its troops rule with an iron hand.

It is quite apparent that Stalin is determined to so weaken Eastern Europe economically that it will be at the complete mercy of Moscow even when Russian troops are eventually withdrawn. It is also interesting to note that in those countries such as Austria and Hungary where the Communist Party did not fare so well at the polls, the Soviets have imposed especially severe economic penalties.

The confiscation of all "German" assets in the Russian-occupied zone of Austria and the manner in which Hungary has been stripped of livestock and supplies, thus spurring disastrous inflation, are two illustrations of the Soviet technique in dealing with small countries which do not swing into the Russian political orbit.

In spite of the cloud under which it is meeting the Paris peace conference can succeed—it can accomplish a great deal toward the establishment of better conditions in Europe. But to do this the Western nations must deal more firmly with Russia, refusing to be bluffed or bullied into accepting the dictates of the Kremlin.

At the same time diplomats must continue their efforts to convince the Russians that no nation—not even the Soviet Union—will gain in the long run from perpetual chaos in Europe.

Auto Production

The American Automobile Manufacturers Association reports that only 27 per cent of the cars and trucks scheduled for production in the first six months of 1946 were actually turned out. That's something to think about.

In other words, instead of the Nation having 3,343,000 new vehicles to replace old ones now doddering along, there were only 918,000—a mere drop in the bucket as compared to current needs.

Why weren't more cars and trucks produced? Strikes in plants supplying auto manufacturers is reported as the greatest single cause for the low output. Many of these tie-ups were little known to the public but they delayed production just as effectively as the spectacular General Motors walkout which was constantly in the headlines. Labor troubles in the basic industries such as coal and steel also took their toll on the Detroit assembly lines.

America's economic strength and stability depend to a large extent on the automobile industry. Output of cars and trucks must be speeded sharply not only to meet transportation needs but to help combat the current inflationary trend. No surer defense against runaway prices could be created than by an avalanche of production—not only in cars but in all lines.

This nation cannot survive economic disaster if labor and management go on spending precious time in bickering rather than producing.

So, let's have less argument and more work—more production and real prosperity. Only in that way can everyone come out ahead.

Still Pouring In

Predictions made before the end of the war that California's population would go down at least temporarily after V-J Day seem rather silly now. It all goes to prove that even the most careful forecasts can miss by a mile.

Present indications are that California will continue merrily on her way to the top spot in population among the 48 states. Whether it will take 5, 10, or 20 years to reach that goal is anybody's guess. But the Golden State has developed the habit of achieving objectives in shorter time than is generally believed possible.

The swift rising volume of retail sales, the tremendous increase in public schools attendance, the growing demand for housing facilities—all these are barometers of population growth.

As remarkable as the growth of our state has been in recent years there are many observers who believe that we "ain't seen nothin' yet." Could be.

meaning, the core of the book, seemed in the end to elude the grasp of the reader. But the exaltation of consecrated struggle, the vivid story of dazzling snow, treacherous glacier, crevasses, howling storms on bare ledges, cruel rock wall, hair breadth escapes, deaths, rescues, love, hate, loyalty, renunciation—all create a spell-binding and powerful book that once read will never be forgotten. Discussion of literary criticism of the book and the life of the author added to the understanding and interest.

Mrs. Inez Herrold of Decoto and Mrs. Alderson and Miss Christine Staats of the Oakland office, were guests and, having read the book, contributed largely to the discussion. Mrs. Helen Brown of Hayward, a former member, and her two small sons, were also welcome guests.

The next meeting will be a picnic at the home of Miss Olive Hyde of Mission San Jose. The subject is drama and the leader, Mrs. Ethel Avilla, has selected "Hedda Gabler" by Henrik Ibsen and "I Remember Mamma" by John Van Druten for study. This will complete the work on the 1945-46 program.

GENERAL EISENHOWER'S REPORT

II

Here enemy resistance stiffened, due primarily to the fact that he had fallen back on long-prepared defenses. At the same time our own offensive capabilities were lessened because our forces had, in their extremely rapid advance, outdistanced supply lines which had been maintained only by herculean efforts. By mid-September our armies in the north and center were committed to relatively static warfare and faced the threat of stabilization. This was true also on our southern flank, where forces landed from the Mediterranean against the south of France in mid-August had swept north through the Rhone Valley to link with the Central Group of Armies and close to the Belfort Gap.

At this time we planned to attack quickly on the northern front in an effort to establish a bridgehead over the lower Rhine while the German armies were still reeling from our blows, but the airborne operation launched at Arnhem was not altogether successful in this respect, although considerable ground was gained and our positions in this area improved. Coincidentally with approving the Arnhem operation, it was directed that operations be undertaken to clear Antwerp as a supply port on the north, essential to our continued offensive action. This was accomplished in November.

While our forces moved slowly in attacks launched at selected points on the front close to the Rhine, the enemy on 16 December launched a desperate and last counterattack designed to throw our campaign into disorder and to delay our planned advance deep into Germany. The attack was not without its immediate effect upon us, but the sturdy defense by our forces followed by our rapid and continuous counterattacks brought home clearly to Germany's military leaders that this last effort had failed completely and that the Nazi war machine faced inevitable disaster.

My plan was to destroy the German forces west of the Rhine along the entire length of the front in a series of heavy blows beginning in the north, and it was my expectation that the enemy would, as he had done in Normandy, stand without giving ground in a futile attempt to "fight it out" west of the Rhine. Moreover, the air forces were used intensively to destroy his mobility. By March, when our forces crossed the river north of the Ruhr, at Remagen, and at various points to the south, resistance on the eastern bank was again reduced to resemble that in France following the breakthrough particularly because the enemy mistaking our intentions crowded a great part of his remaining forces into the Ruhr area.

Our attack to isolate the Ruhr had been planned so that the main effort would take place on the front of the Northern Group of Armies with a secondary effort on the Central Group of Armies' front. This secondary effort was to be exploited to the full if success seemed imminent. Clearing the left bank of the Rhine throughout its length released the means required to strengthen this secondary effort. With the capture of the Remagen bridgehead and the destruction of enemy forces west of the Rhine, the anticipated opportunity became almost a certainty.

Our forces were now able to bridge the Rhine in all sectors and they fanned out in great mobile spearheads through western Germany, disrupting communications, isolating one unit from another, and in the area of the Ruhr completing perhaps the largest double envelopment in history, rendering that great industrial area useless to support what was left of the Nazi armies.

SLEEPING SICKNESS IS BEING STUDIED

Cooperation of farmers is sought in a study of sleeping sickness, encephalitis, in livestock now being undertaken by the State Department of Public Health.

Several cases have already been reported this year in interior valley sections both in livestock and humans. Accurate information is not available on animal cases, but probably close to 1,000 occurred.

Encephalitis is a mosquito borne disease of which more is to be learned about its manner of transmission and methods of control. Infections appear first in mosquitoes, next in horses, and several weeks later in humans.

The Department of Health is seeking the answers to many questions. Several known kinds of encephalitis occur in different parts of the world. Two of them are known in California. Are there other types? Where do mosquitoes get their infection in the first place? How can the mosquitoes be eradicated effectively and economically? There are many more questions to be answered.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Miller entertained Mr. and Mrs. Homer Waller, of Hydro, Oklahoma, in their home last Sunday.

In order for the work to be effective, all cases of encephalitis must be promptly reported. Complete and accurate information concerning animal cases is of great importance. Ranchers are asked to notify veterinarians immediately of suspected cases among animals. Veterinarians are requested to collect blood specimens for laboratory study.

CHECK PRODUCTIONS COSTS ON FARM

Farm productions costs which reached an all-time high during the war years may not continue to be offset in all cases by higher prices paid to producers. Now is the time to watch farm costs.

The farmer is still confronted with the high cost of farm labor, record prices for piece work, limited supplies of machinery parts, higher costs for sacks, bailing wire, and other farm supplies. (Continued on Page 6)

Shortages are holding him back

We in the Bell System were adding telephones at the rate of three million a year until shortages started getting worse. Now it's harder and harder for us to get materials for manufacturing and building.

We aren't complaining for we are in the same boat as every one else. But we thought you might like to know the supply situation on some of the biggest items in the telephone business.

LEAD—There is a world shortage of lead. Even when conditions here straighten out, it will be some time before adequate supplies are available.

COPPER—In great demand but we will probably have adequate supplies when the smelting, refining and fabricating plants get going.

TEXTILES—Serious shortage of cotton and synthetic yarns and fabrics, with demand greatly exceeding supply. STEEL—Steel and coal strikes have affected supply in face of unprecedented demand.

RUBBER—Synthetics are in fair supply but natural rubber is on Government allocation.

LUMBER—Scarce supply due to unprecedented demand and dislocation of lumber trade. BRASS MILL PRODUCTS—Used in Central Office switches and other telephone equipment. Supply will be short until disturbed conditions are settled in the copper industry, permitting brass mills to get back to full-scale production.

It's a tough situation, but we aren't giving up, any more than you have given up trying to get butter or sugar or shirts.

We're doing the best we can with what we've got and hoping these disturbed conditions will end, so we can really go full speed ahead.

home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mara of Canyon Heights.

We have heard about bringing home the bacon. Well, Mr. and Mrs. Elvie Cordoza and friends of Decoto really brought home the trout. Seven people brought home the limit, the largest 22 inches. To the admiring spectators the kitchen seemed shimmering and writhing with fish, in the sink, in pails and in pans. They felt like pinching themselves to bring the dream to an end but the fish stayed right there till many of them found their way to the tables of less fortunate friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Cordoza of Decoto, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Janeiro of San Carlos, Mary Cordoza of Sacramento and sister Elaine, and Harold and Joe Coelho of Watsonville, spent their vacation at Wright Lake, near Ft. Jones, in the Siskiyou Mountains. They packed in 12 miles, riding horses and following the pack mules who knew the trail and led the party without assistance.

They camped in tents in a wild locality of 7000 feet elevation. Sleeping bags were a necessity for the cold nights. Most of the fishing was troling from boats, though there were some caught with flies. A very happy week was spent boating, hiking, and most important of all catching and eating fish, and bringing home over a hundred glistening beauties to prove to their many friends that such things really do happen.

ALVARADO NINE TAKE IT ON CHIN

With five men missing from the regular lineup, the Alvarado Theater baseball nine last Sunday came out on the short end of a 14 to 3 score against the Cazbar team of San Leandro. A number of errors on the part of the local team, plus the fact that Shestack's throwing arm was rather sore, accounted for the bad showing.

In the sixth inning, Shestack was relieved by Roderick, regular first sacker, who came through admirably. Next Sunday the Alvaradans play the Puerito Rican Club.

A full grown Kink Chinook salmon will weigh as much as 75 lbs.

FARM NEWS

Farmers will do well to compare their costs with the average for 1939-41.

Other costs to check which influence farm production costs include seed, fertilizer, spray materials, irrigation water, containers, motive power for farm machinery, taxes, insurance on crops, depreciation on trees, vines, alfalfa.

Increasing yields is sometimes a way to reduce costs. Regardless of the yield, the same outlay is required to prepare land, plant, cultivate, and irrigate. Cost of harvesting is less per unit.

Any means of reducing labor by increased efficiency will help to reduce costs. New techniques and equipment may help to reduce manpower requirements.

ATTRACTIVE FROZEN FRUIT

Apricots, peaches, nectarines—all make excellent frozen fruit. But you will want your frozen fruit to be attractive and that makes it necessary to keep it from becoming dark.

Mrs. Maryetta W. Holman, home demonstration agent, tells how to do this. She says the best way to cut the fruit to be frozen is directly into a cold syrup and pack with enough syrup to completely cover the fruit, pushing down any fruit that floats. If the fruit sticks out of the syrup it will darken. Then freeze it promptly.

After the fruit has been taken out of the freezing storage, do not open the container or the cellophane bag until the fruit has thawed and is ready to use. Then use it as soon as it is thawed.

And there you have a nice fresh flavor and color.

Incidentally, have you got your copy of the extension circular, "Freezing Storage"? It contains the answers to many things you will want to know about freezing foods for storage. You get your copy by simply asking for it at the Agricultural Extension Service, Post Office Building, Hayward.

PORK PRODUCTION GOING DOWN

Better breeding and culling of sows that will brood more and better pigs and plenty of good pasture are aids to California pork producers trying to remain in business. Pork production in California has already been cut to 50 per cent in the face of the unfavorable relation of prices for feed and hogs on foot.

California has never produced more than one-third of the pork products consumed in this state. This cut in swine herds will mean a small percentage of former demands for pork will be produced here this fall and winter.

Further cuts in production are expected in this state. The United

NEWARK NEWS

By LOUISE CHAPMAN

Wanda La Count, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence La Count of Dairy avenue, was married to Joe Garcia of Decoto, last Thursday in San Jose. Both are this year's graduates from Washington Union High School. They are living in San Leandro temporarily.

Tuesday night Mr. R. A. Jolly damage was forestalled by the arrival of the fire department. . . . Over to Newark to the Jolly Pharmacy for a coke where we learned that it was Harold Caldeira, brother of Yvonne, who applied a tourniquet to the arm of the Nevis boy and rushed him to the doctor last Friday night. . . . Out to the Leslie Salt Plant for a chat with Ray Alberts and a look at his "private lake" just outside his window, which makes working in his office like being on a perpetual vacation. . . . Up to Alvarado to listen for awhile to the fast patter of Betty Jacinto. . . . Then back to Decoto for a talk with the boys in Olson's Market where we discover that the three o'clock lunch hour of Bernie Joseph's is the latest of anybody we know. . . . Then back to the office in Niles.

without the benefit of French clearance. Don't miss it!—and back to the Wesley Plasters—(no pun intended).

WHO IS SCULPTOR

Beneath the second floor windows occur some fine dormer entablatures depicting fleur-de-lis, the olive branch, maize, the lilly, and Neptune's shell. Grand pieces all. What sculptor, long gone perhaps, modeled these pieces? Who built the place anyhow? Who are some of the now famous people (perhaps?) putting up at our old hostlerie—those out of San Francisco by stage, to the Golconda of Calaveras, Sonora, and Mariposa. This was a frequent overnight stop. I must ask Joe Gomes and Mario (owners), and perhaps that will make another yarn.

Drove about the town a bit and found nothing else of architectural interest, save some comfy looking homes of recent design which speak for themselves.

States Department of Agriculture fall pig goal just announced calls for a decrease from the number of fall pigs produced in 1945.

Vard Shepard, specialist in livestock of the Agricultural Extension Service, suggests that swine producers select a few well-bred gilts from good producing dams and sires for herd replacements. The situation will turn about in the future and herd replacements will be needed.

LEST WE FORGET

Speaking of restaurants, let's not forget our own International Kitchen, which also attracts diners from far and wide. Mr. and Mrs. Querner, who always show a willingness to cooperate in any local enterprise, are to be congratulated this week on donating display space at the Kitchen for the doll house, made by Mrs. Edna Overacker, that will be sold by the Toyon Branch of the Children's Hospital of the Eastbay, for charity. According to a late report, the doll house is causing quite a stir among those who have seen it.

ASK YOUR WATER HEATER DEALER

He knows what's right for YOUR home

In today's living there is need for greater and greater use of hot water because modern homes have both showers and bathtubs. Modern washing machines, linoleum floors and white woodwork also call for plenty of hot water in housecleaning. Be wise, talk things over with your water heater dealer. No modern home with bathroom, laundry and kitchen can get adequate hot water service from a 20-gallon water heater. An inadequate heater cannot store up enough water for peak use, it becomes constantly overworked and wears itself out.
